

Your research department needs to know what works well. Find out about one of the famous theme parks you know.

Your builders need to know where to build the rides, shops and footpaths. Can you draw the map of your theme park?

The art department said every theme park needs a logo and motto. What would your logo and motto be?

The advertising department needs some posters and leaflets to hand out. Create a poster or leaflet advertising your theme park.

Your boss wants to know the big ride! What is the best ride in the park? Have a go at drawing it and labelling it.

It's time to create your dream theme park! Go creative mad! What theme will your park have? Does it have a famous ride?

The financial department needs to know pricing for entry! Design the ticket and what cost will they be?

Your retail department needs food shops! Design a menu with prices for the different foods you would offer.

Your retail department need shops! Design some products of what you could sell with prices.

Your builders need a model of the rides to work from. Better get your architectural hat on and make one!

The advertising department needs an advert. Create a video advert or jingle for your theme park.